

Lisa Roper

Horticulturist Lisa Roper has gardened for the past 33 years in various areas of Chanticleer. She now oversees the Gravel and Ruin Gardens and is grateful to have the opportunity to express herself creatively as a gardener, photographer, and occasionally woodworker at Chanticleer. Lisa has a BFA from The Cooper Union, where she studied photography. While harvesting olives in Jerusalem, Lisa's interest in horticulture was ignited, so to enhance her knowledge of gardening she completed the two-year Professional Horticulture Program with Longwood Gardens.
